Lions are marooned by early burst from Islanders

19 January 2006

Peterborough Islanders 4, Lee Valley Lions 1

LEE Valley Lions were soon behind as hosts Peterborough Islanders got the first goal of the game with just three minutes gone, with their league-topping goal-machine Ross Mackintosh finding the back of the net, assisted by man of the match David Micheli.

Lions' Dan Sampson and Adam Holloway of the Islanders were both sent to the sin bin at 07:57, Sampson for slashing and Holloway for roughing. Now depleted, neither team were able to score through the remainder of the period.

Controversy arrived when the Lions' new Hungarian signing, Matyas Vas, received 2+10 for checking to the head.

Lions' defenceman Romanas Fedotovas then found himself on the receiving end of similar treatment later in the game but the perpetrator went unpunished.

The Lee Valley Lions held the Islanders at bay until

20:53 when Ross Mackintosh struck again, again assisted by Micheli and also Adam Reynolds. Less than a minute later it was the Lions' turn to score, the goal coming courtesy of Richard Hodge, assisted by Kwabina Oppong-Addai and Scott Beeson.

With just over 31 minutes gone, saw David Micheli

score for Peterborough.

This was soon followed at 34:27 with a goal scored by

Clint Herring, assisted by brother Grant and Fraser

Hendry. Adam Reynolds received a 10-mins penalty at 38:45 for abusing an official, while a slip-up just one second from the buzzer saw the Islanders get a bench

minor for having too many men on the ice.

The final period saw a total of six minutes of penalties against Peterborough and just two minutes conceded

by the Lions.

The scoring deadlock couldn't be broken by either side, leaving it 4-1 to Peterborough Islanders.

Having faced no fewer than 50 shots, netminder

Stefan Nubert deservedly won the man of the match

accolade for the Lions.
