

Lee Valley Lions, resplendent in their British Engine strip, featured on the front page of a November issue of one of the UK's leading ice-hockey magazines - Powerplay. Lions' Mark Salisbury is seen fighting off a challenge by Len Hachborn of the Ayr Bruins.

Big following for Lions

LEE Valley Lions continue to provide exciting corporate entertainment for British Engine and their guests.

More than 60 staff and their families from Longridge House and Midlands and West Regional Branch turned out to cheer on the Lions at Telford Ice Rink in October.

Back on home ice the following weekend Norman Few, a Development Underwriter with South East Regional Branch played host to a party of brokers and their families at Lee Valley Ice Centre when the visitors were Slough Jets.

The next British Engine date with the Lions is at Sheffield Arena in January when Joe Gowland from North East Regional Branch has arranged to entertain guests at the match against the Sheffield Steelers.

There will also be an opportunity for staff from Manchester to attend a game at Sheffield in January. Anyone interested in joining a party travelling to Sheffield should contact Tracy Graham in Marketing on extension 4106.